Local news for the people, by the people

Vol. 01 Num. 04

www.hightidenews.com

No matter what your political position may be... left, right, or in the middle, you have to agree with one thing: There are a lot of mistakes and mismanagement at every level of government.

How many times do we hear about people that don't even exist receiving checks from the government. Or about building a bridge to nowhere when at the same time corporations and small businesses are using very simple software programs that don't miss a beat? How many times do we have to listen to people running for an elected position tell us something negative that their opponent did years earlier to convince us to elect them instead.

A Pool of Great Minds to Recruit

How could this be happening when we have such a pool of truly great minds to recruit from in this country. And why are we having such a hard time coming together even on the smallest thing. The more we disagree the less strength we have as a nation and the more poor management happens.

The main reason we are getting very poor management is because we are hiring (voting people in) people to oversee our finances and infrastructure that are under-qualified. We are not offering financial compensation for these jobs like the private world does. The average salary for a top 500 company CEO is 10 to 30 times higher than our highest government administrators are paid. I wonder if the heads of the IRS or the EPA and other government agencies could get a top position in the corporate world. We need to start realizing that electing someone is the same as hiring someone.

Now that we are living in the information age, we are making more intelligent decisions concerning our lives which are in turn making our "same old" government seem very inadequate. We have to realize we do the hiring and firing we deserve and we have done a poor job for a long time.

Right now this country is made up of several groups and we each think our group is the best.

We have our left; we have our right; and then we have our left-middle; middle-right; right-left; and so on. What we have as a whole is a mess! If you're thinking this country is being run into the ground by mismanagement and corruption you could be right ...but if you think it's coming from one group you could be very wrong. In my opinion, both ruling groups need all other groups to be split in their opinions on as many issues as possible, making it easier for the mismanagement and corruption to rule.

It is also the main weapon when trying to be elected. If there was no disagreement between the voting groups then it would come down to the most qualified. Imagine that. We have to realize that electing someone is the same as hiring someone. This should be done in the same way as any company would hire someone. Idolizing them and glamorizing them is what we have we have done in the past, and it doesn't work.

Experienced or Appointed?

If we are going to bring our government into the present, then we must start treating our government more like a business and less like a social experiment. For example, would you rather have Bill Gates in charge of the IRS or a political appointee that has little experience and is not capable of man-our leaders making millions from some outside source, or should we pay them ourselves? What would Ford Motor Company do? Whatever Ford Motor Company would give and expect from their company's leaders, we should do the same. If you think Ford Motor Company or any other large US company spends millions foolishly on parties and other nonsense things like we see in are government today, I think you would be wrong.

Salaries & Qualifications Less than They Should Be

The salaries and qualifications of our government leaders are grossly less than they should be, considering that these employees are in charge of the most successful and complicated country in the history of the world.

Not paying them what their position deserves only causes us to have a less efficient government in many ways. We have billions at stake every year. We owe 17 trillion dollars. We have to have the best minds to fix this mess. The United States of America deserves the best money can buy. We can afford to pay more than Ford Motor Company does. The greatness of the United States of America is far from over. We have a very rich country in every way. The budget of a government should be handled the same way as a budget for a family only much bigger.

Remember we are the government, we can't blame our elected leaders. We elected them. We are all in this together. Blaming someone will do nothing to help fix this. It's simple math. This is why it's time to stop playing who's right and who's wrong games and fix this mess.

aging such a huge job. If you think about it, the United States Of America's IRS department is the one of the world's most complicated jobs in history. We must have the best minds running this if we are going to balance our budget, no matter the cost. Bill Gates may not want the job but there are a lot of capable minds out there that would do it if the salary was right. One requirement has to be experience in overseeing large amounts of people and large amounts of money. Another requirement has to be a lot of waiver signing, like forfeiting the right to claim the 5th if brought before Congress, and forfeiting the right not to be sued if found guilty of bipartisan harassment. Right now it's unbelievable that anyone in government who refuses to answer questions their overseer's ask, still stays on our payroll.

It's really unbelievable when you think about the fact that most small business owners make more than the person in charge of the IRS or the EPA or any other governmental department. Our leaders should be looked at more like CEO's than Super Stars and paid like CEO's. Do we want

We have to pay MORE!

Reynolds and Davis, Local Artists Team Up On New Series Creation

Millville - Millville Town Peddler is pleased to announce that local surfboard shaper Clay Reynolds, Reynolds' Back Door Surfboards, and local artist Amber Starr Davis, Amber's Custom Decks and Boards have teamed up to create a new series of surfboards.

The new, fun, funky, affordable series will be displayed and sold at Millville Town Peddler. The surfboard series depicts their love of the beach and ocean as revealed by their imaginations. The surfboards are not only great for catching waves, they will also be eye candy for any wall.

Clay Reynolds is a local, young, self taught surfboard shaper who allows his love of surfing to be expressed in every swipe that he makes on his boards. Reynolds pours his emotions into the shaping and glassing of the surfboards he creates.

Check out Reynolds' work on www.facebook.com/Reynolds-BackDoorSurf

Amber Starr Davis is a local, young, self taught skateboard deck and surfboard artist. Davis uses a combination of elements and mediums to create her one of a kind creations. Davis' expresses lovable whimsy in her paintings that shows her love of life. View Davis' work on www.facebook.com/AmbersCustomDecksandBoards

The two artists are also doing custom boards by request. For more information to purchase a surfboard in this series, contact Millville Town Peddler, 35308 Atlantic Avenue, 302-381-5891, mtpeddler@verizon.net or visit www.facebook.com/MillvilleTownPeddler.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Millville Town Peddler Hosts Artist Kelly Haskins

Millville - Millville Town Peddler is pleased to announce that it will host artist Kelly Haskins, for a month - long exhibit and artist reception.

The collection will be displayed at Millville Town Peddler in the rear section during September. Come meet the artist at the Artist Reception on September 21, 2013 at 4:00p.m. Haskins describes her show, "I tend to see my work with a bit of an ADD flair due to its surrealism as well as differentiating topics from human emotion to paintings of animals. There is no one subject focused on. My mother has begged me for years to draw hearts and flowers and I have sat down and tried but despite my efforts I am who I am." Haskins will be coming to Millville Town Peddler after completing a RAW Artists Show in Philadelphia, PA.

The Artwork Showing of Kelly Haskins is free and open to the public. Haskins artwork will be available for purchase. Members of the community are invited to come enjoy the art, take part in the Meet the Artist Artist's Reception, sale specials and partake in lite refreshments. For more information, contact Millville Town Peddler, 35308 Atlantic Avenue, 302-381-5891, mtpeddler@verizon.net or visit www.facebook.com/MillvilleTownPeddler and www.facebook.com/ReynoldsBackDoorSurf Artists interested in holding a show at Millville Town Peddler can contact by phone, email or in person.

JUST VINYL LLC

We take the clouds away & let the sunshine in!

JUST VINYL LLC

Proprietor: Marianne Hildebrand
410-227-0768 or 443-980-8031
32491 Powell Farm Road
Frankford, Delaware 19945

Marianne Hildebrand owns a growing cleaning & replacement business for vinyl panel windows. This family owned business is operated from Frankford, DE and serves the entire Delmarva area.

"I left my high stress corporate accounting job in Baltimore MD and came to Delaware to own & operate the company, not that owning your own company isn't stressful, but the friendly customers make it all worth my while."

Marriane Hildebrand

Marianne began this business because she saw a real need for this kind of service. Most installation companies do not provide cleaning and replacement services.

In April 2013 Marianne bought an existing company and began growing the business by advertising and personally walking neighborhoods to meet owners of vinyl panel window systems.

According to Marianne, one of the greatest things in the development of the company has been meeting the friendly homeowners from various states and sharing their world travel and experiences.

Other great moments in the development of the company have been the positive phone calls received from advertisements, to stopping into potential customer's houses for estimates.

"And then, on average, watching 98% of estimates become active jobs to complete."

Marriane Hildebrand

Marianne has received many testimonies from customers of the high quality of work and high customer satisfaction. She has received referrals from Eastern Shore Porch & Patio, which, she states, seem to be the best installers with high customer satisfaction.

High quality of work

This company reflects Marianne Hildebrand's personal work ethic. She goes "over and above" to satisfy her customers.

"We make the customer aware of the full operation and maintenance of their vinyl panel window system as installers really never cover this area," says Hildebrand, "and second or third home owners are really puzzled as to everything about the vinyl panel window systems."

Products and Services Offered by JUST VINYL

Full replacement and cleaning of PGT Eze-Breeze and Vinyl Tech window systems. Replacement includes cleaning of frame, replacement of vinyl panel, preserving with PGT preservative, check & replace any operational hardware when necessary for proper operation.

Marianne Hildebrand of JUST VINYL LLC...cleaning and replacement of vinyl windows.

Cleaning includes removing all vinyl panel windows from the frame system then taken outside where they are washed with manufacture recommended products, dried, then PGT preservative is applied. While this is being done all frame systems are cleaned & then a silicone spray is applied for ease of operation. Before reinstalling vinyl panel windows all operational hardware is checked & replaced when necessary.

This service is the "like new" answer for owners of Eze-Breeze & Vinyl Tech window systems.

Benefits of using JUST VINYL

JUST VINYL uses only manufacture recommended cleaning and preserving products. According to manufactures, the vinyl panel windows need to be cleaned and preserved two times yearly to maintain the warranty. Without knowledge of the window system it is easy to mix up panels when cleaning which will create issues when trying to reinstall the windows as each frame system can vary by fractions of inches.

The Future

JUST VINYL would like to expand its customer base to meet the needs of the area. With expansion of service they will still provide customers the highest quality of work to insure 100% satisfaction.

Free Estimates

Estimates are always free. We always offer a 10% discount for veterans, police & firefighters. In addition for every referral a customer provides which leads to a job they will receive a 10% discount up to ten and with ten referrals your next cleaning will be free of charge (Veterans, police & firefighters only need nine referrals for a free cleaning).

When you call Marianne at JUST VINYL, mention that you saw their story in High Tide News!

FIRE SAFETY TIPS

Tips on keeping you and your home safe during the fall and winter seasons.

First, make sure your smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are working. Space heaters seem to be the cause of at least half of the fires each year. If you use a space heater make sure you read and follow the instructions. A central gas heater should be treated like an open fire in your house.

Never store any type of flammables near your heater, even paint cans with lids on them can leak enough fumes to start a fire. Looking at your heater and chimney can be a very easy way to prevent a fire make sure they both look ok. If you see deterioration, get it checked out.

Never burn leaves close to your home. If you have a fireplace or a wood stove be very careful when dumping the ashes. The ashes can remain hot enough to start a fire for hours. Keeping your clothes dryer filter clean can prevent build up in the dryer vent. Look at your dryer vent cap outside, it should be lint free.

Leaving an outdoor fire pit or any type of fire to burn out on its own can be very dangerous. The wind can pick up while you are sleeping causing a fire. Candles can be dangerous if left unintended. Pets they can knock a candle over. Small children should never be left unintended around any type of heaters that have hot areas they can touch.

You can never be too safe or too aware of a potential fire hazard. Follow the news in your area on what may be the cause of fires. This can give you a good idea on what to watch out for. Be safe.

Lively and Energetic Classic Rock Soul Dance Band ready for anything!

Go With the Flo Band

Entertainment straight from the heart!

By Judy Layman

The night I walked into High Stakes Bar & Grill on Route 54 in Fenwick, DE, I was totally blown away by the Go With the Flo Band, consisting of Flo Hudak, singer; Rich Butler, lead guitar (& Flo's right arm!); Ronnie Faulkerson, drummer; and Rick Nelson on base guitar. The band was great, the singer was pouring her heart out, and everyone, including her, was enjoying every second of it... to the fullest. No one in the place was focused on anything else but the singer and the band! It was unbelievable! Such energy!

Well, before the end of the evening I made a promise to myself to meet this entertainer and find out her story. She was so full of life. Before the end of that night, I asked if she would allow me to do a story on her and her band for High Tide News. She liked the idea and agreed to an interview.

Entrepreneur for Life

Flo Hudak is one of the most entertaining, interesting people I've met. She describes herself as an "entrepreneur for life."

From hairdresser, to pumpkin salesperson, to owning a craft business, to greenhouse owner, to haunted house creator, to singer and entertainer, and finally to humanitarian... singing and entertaining in old age homes and retirement villages, Flo Hudak is a very unique character. Oh, did I mention she was also a professional softball player ... played first string catcher on a travelling women's team and oh yes, she played third base on a men's team too, and don't forget she marched in the Drum and Bugle Corp, played volleyball and don't forget cliff jumping! This lady's story is endless. But the amazing thing about her is that she loves life, she loves people and her lot in life is to make people happy, which she is very successful at.

Some Kind of Wonderful

Flo would go with her brother and family to do karaoke. That was their family time. She would go to karaoke places regularly with her brother and people would actually pay her to sing their songs, because they couldn't sing!

One night a friend called her and asked her to go karaokeing. She had a bandana on her head, she was in flip-flops, a cut off T-shirt, no make-up...reluctantly she went, got on stage and sang and had a great time and everyone loved her! Then the next night her friend talked her into going out again, "you have to hear this band," her friend said. Flo had been fishing all day, hadn't had a chance to clean up to go out... again, and was not prepared for what came next. Someone who had heard her the night before said to the band members "You have to hear this girl sing..." Flo protested, said she had never sung with a band, but in the end she gave in and got on stage with the band. That was the beginning for Flo. She sang the song, "Some Kind of Wonderful".

"I almost chipped my teeth with the microphone, I was scared to death!"

Well everyone was clapping and dancing and Flo just thought... "well, here we go!" She had never played with a band before, but the place was packed and they loved her and wanted more... the band leader said sing another one. She then sang Patsy Cline's "Crazy." The band leader then said they had been playing for 3 hours and no one got up to dance. Flo started singing with them and everyone was up and dancing. He called her the next morning and offered her $100 to play with them again the next night.

She has now been singing professionally for 10 years. The Go With the Flo band started playing at High Stakes Bar and Grill last May and bookings just keep coming from all over. She is much more than just a singer, Flo Hudak is a true entertainer, she gets everyone up dancing, singing and having fun.

It runs in the family

Flo loves country music, but "dance familiar music" from the 50, 60, 70's, & rock and roll is what earns the money, so that is what her band performs.

"My brother sounds exactly like Vince Gill....."

Her brother also has a wonderful voice. Several years ago, she took her brother Gary to a competition in Ocean City to sing on a country western radio station in West Virginia. Flo was there to support him.

The competition started at 10am, her brother did a Vince Gill song and the entire park went quiet. The audience loved him. He had it in the bag. Then they kept asking Flo to get on stage, and, thinking her brother was in 1st or 2nd place, and she was just having fun. She thought her brother had the contest won, so she got on stage and sang Poor Me... she fell off the stage... got back up on stage and kept singing without missing a beat! She was, in her own words "just being a hot dog". Well, needless to say the audience loved Flo, too! And she unexpectedly, unintentionally won the competition! She said that was the longest ride home ever! Hopefully her brother has forgiven her!

Where her heart is

No matter where Flo Hudak goes she makes people happy. She has many memories stored of so many times she has affected people with her warmth and beautiful voice. Flo has recently been entertaining people in nursing and convalescent homes. Flo has found a whole new world of fulfillment and making people happy through this outlet.

She tells another story of how one man at a nursing home requested her to sing a song and when she did and she looked over at him and he was crying and ended up leaving the room... then she found out that he had just lost his wife the week before and that "Crazy," the song that he had requested, was her favorite song.

To find out more, or to set up a booking with Go With the Flo Band you can find them on facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/GoWithTheFloBand> or email: gowiththeflo378@aol.com. If you have a chance, be sure to see this band, it is local entertainment at its finest! (And mention to them that you saw their story in High Tide News!)

The Frankfurt Computer Incident

By High Tide News' contributing writer Vincent Paez

While traveling recently in Germany, I wanted to connect to the internet to listen to some music from home. About ten years ago, I lived in Germany for three years, and I knew that Germans are very direct people. But this incident really caught me by surprise.

There nothing more fun that getting to new hotel and trying to connect to the WiFi in the room. As a seasoned traveler, I've had the pleasure of becoming rather experienced at this ordeal. Usually, it's not very difficult, if you follow the steps given at check-in or the steps that show up on the screen, when one launches their browser. But this late night in the Frankfurt Marriott was particularly enjoyable. For some reason, no matter what I did, I could not access the internet. I have never claimed to be a computer jockey, but such a link should be relatively easy. My pride was preventing me from calling tech support, so I continued to try and try until I realized that the night was passing, and I really needed to get some email done and get to sleep in short order.

And so I broke down and called the front desk and spoke in English. "Hello, can you please tell me if you're having any problems with the WiFi?"

"We had some problems last night sir, but it should be working now."

The front desk said in wonderful English and strong German accent.

"Well for some reason, I cannot access the internet."

"Sir, would you like me to transfer you to technical support?"

I broke down. "Yes, please. Thank you."

After three minutes of waiting, which I imagine is not a long time, I was notified that my call would be recorded, and if I had an issue with that, then I was to notify the service person. I was then connected to tech support. The person who answered had a very heavy German accent, but he was very understandable. "Hallo, this is tech support."

"Good evening. I am having trouble connecting to the internet. I have no problem connecting to the hotel WiFi, and my computer tells me that I am connected. But I cannot go beyond that and access the internet."

"Well, what are you doing wrong?" The question surprised me. I had to think for a moment how to respond to that question.

At this point, I could have conjured up so very many sarcastic responses:

"Well, I think I called the wrong tech support person," I thought I could say. My imagination went on.

Well, I think I checked into the wrong hotel."

"This is the President of the United States, and the security on my laptop won't allow me to connect to the internet through your insecure WiFi."

But I remembered that the call was being recorded, so I kept to niceties.

"Well, you are the technical expert, and I am sure you will help me figure out what I am doing wrong."

"OK. What does your home page say?"

"Google.com." I always used Google as a home page, as I use it so much.

"No. I mean what is your home page?"

"...uh, google.com."

"Sir, in order to help you, I need you to answer the question correctly. So now I will ask you a third time, what is your home page. When you first try to log in you get like a landing page. What does it say?" His voice was getting terse. I did not like it. But I was the one in dire need to log on. He had all the power.

At this point, I thought I should just take the verbal browbeating on the phone, and wait until the call was over. Once I was on-line, then I could fight back; but not too harshly.

"Oh, the landing page, you say?"

Vincent Paez

There is the log in screen, right?"

"Yes, yes, yes, log in, landing, home page whatever you like to call it, for the fourth time, what is it?"

"It's the Marriot Frankfurt log-in page asking me for my room number and name."

"Ok. So you are at the Marriott." At this point my blood was starting to boil. Do German's accept this kind of treatment? I cannot imagine. I decided to turn the power around a little and cool things down at the same time.

"Don't worry, I am sure we will both be able to figure out what is wrong," I said.

"I am not worried, I know we will try."

"So let's take it slowly, don't feel any pressure. Let's think together."

I felt a little more in control and less needy.

We went through my browser selections in Internet Options, and Communications, and found a box that should not have been checked. Once that happened, I immediately was connected to the internet.

"You see, you should not have been so worried. We did it," I said. At that point, I wanted to be a little patronizing.

"Yes, we did. Do have any more questions?"

"Not at the moment, but if I screw up again, I am sure you will be there to calmly offer support."

"OK, Good-bye."

I then found my music on the internet and thought about the experience.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Cancer Support Community-DE to Offer Journaling For Wellness

Extensive research has revealed that writing regularly actually boosts your immune system and promotes improved health. Join Beth Joselow, psychotherapist and award winning writer, on Wednesday, September 18th at 1 pm, as she introduces techniques for using personal writing as a tool for healing. Journaling For Wellness is a part of the Art HOPE (Healing Opportunities for Personal Expression) series. This program is made possible, in part, by a grant from the Delaware Division of the Arts, a state agency dedicated to nurturing and supporting the arts in Delaware, in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts. For further information or to register please call 645-9150. Cancer Support Community-Delaware is located in The Medical Arts Building, Suite 312 at the Beebe Health Campus on John J. Williams Hwy. in Rehoboth. All classes at CSC are offered to people affected by cancer and their loved ones free of charge.

The Cancer Support Community is part of a national nonprofit organization that provides support, education and hope to people with cancer and their loved ones. Through participation in professionally led support groups, educational workshops and mind/body classes, people affected by cancer learn vital skills that enable them to regain control, reduce isolation and restore hope regardless of the stage of disease. At the Cancer Support Community Delaware, all programs are free of charge. More information about the Cancer Support Community is available on their website at www.cancersupportdelaware.org.

Cancer Support Community-DE Collaborates with Delaware Hospice To Offer A 6-Week Bereavement Series

"Healing After the Loss of a Loved One"

Beginning on Tuesday, September 10th at 5:00 pm, the Cancer Support Community collaborates with Delaware Hospice to host a 6-week Bereavement program facilitated by Midge Dinatale of Delaware Hospice. This series is free of charge and open to anyone that has lost a loved one in the past year. The Cancer Support Community is located in the Medical Arts Building, 18947 John J. Williams Hwy, Suite 312, Rehoboth. Space is limited. Please call 645-9150 for information and to register. Registration deadline is Friday, September 6th.

The Victorians In Concert

For many, Gospel music is a source of expressing Christian belief. It uplifts and inspires, taps into deep soulful emotions, and provides an outlet to celebrate the rich tradition, of American music. The tradition of gospel music is nothing new to the Cape Region and surrounding communities. Everyone is invited to come, see, and hear The Victorians in Concert, anointed women of God who will light up the stage. The Victorian Gospel Singers of Baltimore, Maryland have graced the stage with such gospel greats as Vicki Winans, The Jackson Southernaires, Richard Smallwood, The Mighty Clouds of Joy, The Clark Sisters and many others. This concert is open to the public and is certain to be an event that you will not want to miss.

Tickets to the concert are required for entry. This fundraiser event will be held Saturday, September 7, 2013, 6:00 P.M. in the prestigious and elaborate auditorium at Cape Henlopen High School located on 1250 Kings Highway, Lewes, Delaware. All tickets are $15. Tickets will be available at the door. This spectacular event is sponsored by Faith United Methodist Church Building Fund of Rehoboth, Delaware.

The purpose of Faith United Methodist Church Building Fund Campaign is to raise funds for the design and building of a new sanctuary / worship center for Faith United Methodist Church. "We are following a vision that we have had for quite sometime and that is to build a new church in order to create more space for our existing ministries as well as provide for future growth. A new church will enable us to serve many others as well as open new doors and make it possible for other great ministries." "Where there is no vision, the people perish." We look forward to everyone generous support of this important project.

For more information and to purchase tickets call Rev. Jerome E. Tilghman, Sr. at 302-645-4833 or Wayne H. Paskins at 302-227-8738.
